

Legal English Skills – Foundation Test of Legal English Skills (TOLES)

Muscat, Sultanate of Oman
14th - 18th April 2019

Background

Legal English is a different language from general English. Just as lawyers in your own country write in a different language from other people so do English lawyers. Sentences are often structured differently in legal English.

EMG Associates is an accredited examination centre for TOLES

The words lawyers use are often centuries old and no longer commonly used in General English. New prepositions need to be learned. When you read a commercial contract or read a letter there is new technical vocabulary to understand on every page.

The course is designed to look at authentic rather than artificial legal context. For this reason there is a strong focus upon practical and authentic tasks and upon candidates having a good grasp of terminology from the outset.

The course takes account of significant language reforms in the English legal system and the legal profession's continued movement towards clearer use of English as recommended on Legal Practice Courses at all major UK universities and legal training centres.

This course requires little or no knowledge of English law or American law. It specifically requires a largely passive knowledge of terminology.

Recognition of TOLES

The TOLES exams are the world's market leaders in legal English exams and are highly respected by international law firms and the Law Society of England and Wales.

The TOLES organisation is a private legal training company which was created as a direct result of extensive consultations with a leading commercial law firm. Partners in the firm complained that law graduates holding a wide variety of English language certificates lacked the level of English required to carry out essential legal tasks. TOLES materials and exams were developed as a direct solution to this problem.

TOLES legal English training materials and exams have been developed following the advice of experienced commercial lawyers. The top requirements of employers are excellent drafting skills, first-class negotiating skills and a strong sense of commercial awareness. As members of the International Division of the Law Society of England and Wales, TOLES is in an excellent position to support international legal professionals in achieving these goals.

Law firms and organisations that have already entered candidates for the TOLES exams include:

- The Law Society of England and Wales
- Linklaters Oppenhoff and Radler
- Allen&Overy LLP
- Baker and McKenzie
- PricewaterhouseCoopers
- KPMG
- Sony Ericsson
- Daimler Chrysler

TOLES Foundation

Overview

This is the first level in Test of Legal English Skills. The course requires minimum of 25 hours of training including the exam. The level of English needed for this course is elementary level. The priority at this stage is to make sure that a genuinely strong foundation of legal English is in place in order to allow learners to progress successfully to the next level. This strong foundation includes consolidating basic grammar before moving on to more complicated language structures. The TOLES Foundation course requires little or no knowledge of British or American law. It requires a good general English and knowledge of useful, international legal terminology, a strong, active use of basic grammar.

Syllabus

The aim of the Foundation course is to ensure learners are equipped with a strong basis upon which to build the skills required by employers. We have analysed the drafting and general writing skills of thousands of international lawyers when working on office-based tasks and devised a step-by-step programme to help them eliminate mistakes and reach the standard required. The TOLES Foundation materials and exam ensure that serious learners will be successful and won't make the very common mistake of attempting more advanced tasks before mastering the basics. The following topics will form the basis of the course:

- basic legal negotiations
- pre-contractual documents
- commercial contracts
- banking
- companies
- other forms of business
- bankruptcy and insolvency
- employment law and contracts
- the litigation process
- essential contract law
- the law of tort
- intellectual property
- real estate
- oral contracts
- an introduction to the common law

Training Material

The Lawyer's English Language Course book

The Lawyer's English Language Course book was written for legal professionals such as you, with your needs at the heart of the book, and it gives you the material you need to study in an efficient way. It is based upon our many years experience of teaching and working with lawyers, law students and legal translators from around the world. We are convinced that this book is the best study material available to you if you want to be professional and accurate in all you do in English at work.

This course book is intended to be a complete course of preparation for TOLES Foundation and Higher exams in legal English. We recommend that anyone planning to take the TOLES Advanced exam should use this book too, as the material in it is fundamental to any lawyers' English language skills.

Each of the ten units is divided into section A (Foundation) and Section B Higher). We recommend that everyone should complete Section A of each unit, to be sure from the start that you are familiar with the legal vocabulary it contains and are accurate in what you are doing.

When you are confident that you know the material contained in Section A of each unit, you can proceed to build on your skills by completing the more complex exercises in Section B. Each unit also contains some practice exercises for the TOLES exams.

Exam

The exam is based on absolute accuracy in written English, not fluency. This means that when learners answer questions we expect their use of English to be very good and they will lose points for imperfect grammar as well as for vocabulary mistakes. Exam is 90 minutes long and focuses on “Practical legal vocabulary in authentic situations; consolidation of basic grammar.” The maximum score possible at Foundation level is 100.
