

Reid Technique of Investigative Interviewing & Advanced Interrogation

13th – 16th September 2027

Elite Byblos Hotel, Dubai, UAE

The Reid Technique of Interviewing and Interrogation® For Loss Prevention and Corporate Security Personnel is a four-day workshop specifically designed for corporate security, loss prevention, asset protection professionals, auditors and human resources personnel.

Every year, thousands of individuals from business, law enforcement, and government organizations utilize the services of John E. Reid and Associates for law enforcement training programs, and their products to help them:

- Develop interviewing & interrogation skills
- Conduct investigations
- Select new employees

During the first three days, participants will learn The Reid Technique of Interviewing and Interrogation, widely recognized as the most effective means available to exonerate the innocent and identify the guilty. The workshop is based on the basic tenet of the Reid Technique, as taught by John E. Reid and Associates, that a custodial suspect must be advised of his rights prior to any questioning about a criminal act.

The fourth day is designed to build on the information learned and particular emphasis is placed on how to elicit information from the suspect during the interview stage that will serve as the basis for developing an individualized interrogational approach, based on the suspect's profile and characteristics. Without exception, past participants have commented on the value of the advanced techniques learned which give them a better understanding of the interrogation process, and allow them to enhance their skill level by learning new techniques and tactics.

Information is the most valuable resource for any professional that has to solve problems, make decisions and identify and select talent. Getting to that information is not an easy task especially when you have to extract it from the minds of others. The Reid methodology is a tried and tested method that enables professionals to extract that type of high value information effortlessly. The techniques on which it is based stem from the field of law enforcement and security but have also been effectively applied to areas such as human resources especially when recruiting for positions of trust for businesses, law enforcement and government agencies and also when conducting disciplinary or audit processes.

Who Should Participate

This specialized interrogation training workshop is designed for law enforcement and government investigators, corporate security and loss prevention professionals interested in determining factual information for loss prevention issues and/or employee investigations.

Corporate clients worldwide from industries including legal, insurance, compliance, logistics, hospitality, healthcare, audit, finance & banking, oil & gas, airlines, etc. regularly attend these workshops.

PARTICIPANTS WILL LEARN HOW TO assess the credibility of statements • structure the interview to maximize the flow of information • use behaviour provoking questions in the interview process • persuade a suspect to tell the truth about their involvement in criminal activity • develop interrogation themes • handle denials, overcome objections and use alternative questions • learn to psychologically profile suspects for questioning • develop specialized strategies for difficult subjects • evaluate response content in written statements • evaluate the credibility of an allegation and much more

Why Needed

95% of the respondents reported that using The Reid Technique helped them to improve their confession rate. The majority of the respondents said they increased their confession rate by more than 25%; almost a quarter the respondents said they increased their confession rates by as much as 50%

97% of the respondents reported that using The Reid Technique increased their case resolution rates

99% of the respondents reported that using The Reid Technique increased their ability to identify whether a suspect was truthful or deceptive

98% of the respondents reported that they have recommended The Reid Technique training seminars to other investigators

100% of the respondents reported that they thought the benefits they received attending the Reid Technique seminar was worth the investment they made to attend the seminar

What Will Be Accomplished

The purpose of this course is to provide the participants with the finest training available on interviewing and interrogation. At the end of this course, participants will:

- have the fundamentals necessary to conduct a proper interview and interrogation in compliance with corporate guidelines;
- have a structured frame of reference for those interviewers who have some experience but also may not have had some formal training in the area;
- show an improvement in their efficiency in obtaining the truth from suspects, witnesses and victims in a legally acceptable manner.
- provide additional advanced tactics and techniques designed to obtain confessions from the deceptive suspect in a more expedient manner
- provide finesse tactics dealing with the psychology of interrogation to enhance the investigator's ability to acquire confessions that might not have otherwise been obtained
- provide a logical guideline that may be used to profile out any type of suspect for interrogation

The Company

"When asked which vendors they rely on most for building their own skills and that of staff, a whopping 80% of security pros cited John E. Reid and Associates." (Dec. 2002 IOMA Security Director's Report)

John E. Reid and Associates, Inc. was established in 1947 to provide detection of deception services and training programs for clients in the business, police and legal communities. Because of their success in solving cases where there is little or no evidence, Reid and Associates is recognized as the pre-eminent experts in the specialized fields of interviewing, interrogation and the polygraph technique. Each year their staff conduct in excess of 4,000 interviews across the United States. In addition, they present over 250 training programmes annually.

The Reid Technique of Interviewing® and Interrogation is now the most widely used approach to question subjects in the world. The content of their instructional material has continued to develop and change over the years. John E. Reid and Associates is the only organization that can teach the current version of their training program on The Reid Technique®.

The accumulated experience level of John E Reid instructors exceeds 250 years, during which time they have conducted over 75,000 interviews and interrogations. Many of the staff hold a Masters of Science Degree in the Detection of Deception. On a daily basis, the firm is retained to provide interviewing services for businesses, law enforcement, attorneys and government agencies

John E. Reid and Associates has been awarded contracts for training from NATO; the Bavarian and Berlin Law Enforcement communities in Germany; and have conducted training programs in Bosnia-Herzegovina; the Czech Republic; the United Arab Emirates; Singapore; Japan; Mexico; Canada; Belgium; and South Korea. Their training manual has been translated into both Spanish and German

Their book, Criminal Interrogation and Confessions (4th edition, 2001) is considered by the courts and practitioners to be the standard for interviewing and interrogation techniques. The book has been translated into Chinese, Japanese and Turkish. In June 2004 in the case of Missouri v. Seibert, the United State Supreme Court referenced John E. Reid and Associates and their book as examples of law enforcement resources that offered proper training. In 1994 the United States Supreme Court referenced their textbook, Criminal Interrogation and Confessions, in making their decision in the case Stansbury v. California. Courts throughout the country have recognized The Reid Technique as the leading interview and interrogation approach used today in both the law enforcement and business communities.

Their expertise on the topic of behaviour symptom analysis, interviewing and interrogation techniques was recognized by the National Security Agency which awarded John E. Reid and Associates (in conjunction with Michigan State University) a sole source bid for a scientific study on the use of behaviour symptoms in the detection of deception. The results of the study were published in the Journal of Forensic Sciences.

On a regular basis John E. Reid and Associates is contacted and retained by Prosecuting Attorneys from around the country as expert witnesses or consultants on proper interview and interrogation techniques. They provide extensive information for practitioners and members of the judiciary on their web page as to the issues of false confessions, example confession testimony, case decisions, relevant research and more.
